“ Marble is like man,
before setting out to do something,
you must know it well and know everything that there is inside of it.
Thus, if there are air bubbles inside of you,
I am wasting my time ”

(Michelangelo Buonarroti 1475-1564)

Bestowing a shape to matter...

A shape that tends towards pleasure and not only towards wellness, which wants to be Beauty and not only Usefulness. Realizing a project to unearth harmony in the wonderfulness that marble holds. A magnificent stone that could be skilfully modelled many centuries ago, nowadays it is modelled on an industrial scale.

"Il Marmo" company represents the crucial quality factor: all types of marble in the world are not shaped with the sole aid of NC machining centres; all high tech means are made available for our products, but most of all the finest of all instruments is found in the company: commitment.

And so a project is born in the technical department, but just as for an artist, it develops via the experience of who loves his work, who gradually gets the Shape already embedded in the marble to come out. It simply involves extracting what the stone encloses.

All this renders our Made in Italy the authentic answer to the new requirement for a synthesis between practical and human, technical and aesthetic, productive and qualitative values, and for art for life.
